GRIFFITH ELECTED PRESIDENT IRISH FREE STATE

WILL HEAD GOV'T. TO ARRANGE FOR NEW FORMED STATE

WHETHER GRIFFITH WILL ASSUME PRESIDENCY OF IRISH REPUBLIC DECIDED LATER

De VALERA AND SUPPORTERS LEAVE CHAMBER—DAIL THEN APPROVES CABINET

(By United Press)

At the suggestion of President Griffith, the Dail today took an adjournment until February 14th.

Dublin, Jan. 10.—Arthur Griffith today was elected president of the Dail Eireann. The foreign minister under Eamonn De Valera, will head a provisional government to arrange for the establishment of the Irish Free State.

Whether Griffith will also assume the presidency of the Irish republic, will be thrashed out in the Dail later. Michael Collins moved that Arthur Griffith be appointed president of the Dail. Calvin O'Duffy, seconded the motion. As a protest against this motion, Eamonn De Valera left the council chambers. His supporters followed him. Afterwards the 65 members remaining accepted the roll call, electing Griffith.

When the De Valerites had withdrawn, the motion of Collins was carried unanimously and Griffith stood elected as president of the dail. The Dail then approved the cabinet. As a protest against the election, the De Valera supporters left the Dail council chamber.

A debate between De Valera and Griffith enlivened the proceedings at the opening of the Dail's session this morning. Griffith, speaking as leader of the Dail, answered De Valera's objections that the Dail could not act save as the parliament of the Irish republic sanction it.

"We will maintain order and continue the Dail until the people have decided that," said Griffith.

The former president insisted that the Dail must cease to function unless it followed the republic.

"We will uphold the republic," Griffith answered, "until an election has decided that issue."

FATTY ARBUCKLE IS AGAIN ON TRIAL, TRIAL TOMORROW

(By United Press.)

San Francisco, Jan. 10.—Roscoe Arbuckle lolled in a luxurious suite at the Plaza Hotel here today between conferences with his "million dollar defense" and otherwise got ready for the opening tomorrow of his second trial on a charge of taking the life of Virginia Rappe.

If "Fatty" were socially ostracized; if he were broke; if he had sold his $25,000 automobile or many of his cheaper ones; if he were verging on a nervous collapse; if he saw impending ruin ahead, or if any of the other rumored disasters had overtaken him, he don't show it. He is taking his predicament seriously and plainly shows worry at times, but, in the language of the street, they "haven't got his goat."

HOPE THE MISSING OFFICIAL IS ALIVE

TAX FROM IRON PRODUCTS FALL OFF GREATLY

(By United Press.)

St. Paul, Jan. 10.—With indications that tax receipts from St. Louis county may fall off $2,500,000 this year—an average of $1.00 for every person in the state—officials at the Capitol today said the amount may have to be made up by a general tax increase.

Preliminary reports from St. Louis county were said to indicate that taxes from the iron products will fall off tremendously. The recently enacted per capita limitation and tonnage bill was said to be responsible for this situation.

A conflict is brewing over the tonnage tax, it was said. Claims are being made that it does away with all other taxes on iron ore and ore properties and will rob villages and counties of considerable revenue.

NAVAL LIMITATION TREATY WILL BE SIGNED SATURDAY

ACCORDING TO PRESENT PROGRAM—PLENARY SESSION OF CONFERENCE HELD FRIDAY

CONFERENCE NOW APPROACHING SPECTACULAR WINDUP—ACHIEVEMENT PROCLAIMED

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 10.—A plenary session of the Arms Conference is expected Friday to announce to the world the powers' acceptance of the Naval Limitation Treaty.

Signatures of the delegates of the United States, Great Britain, France, Japan and Italy—the five powers involved in the treaty—will be affixed Saturday, according to present plans. Arthur Balfour, head of the British delegation has postponed his departure to participate in the announcement and the signing of the treaty.

The conference is now approaching a spectacular windup, and its achievements will be proclaimed to the world in such a manner as to silence recent criticism.

Consideration of the naval treaty, which embodies America's sweeping program for limitation of armament in its modified form, was expected to come before the conference in secret session today.

The approval, virtually as drafted, was expected, although some lively discussion is probable.

Its fate in the senate appears certain, but today there came to light a move fostered from Chinese quarters to start pro-Chinese sentiment so that senators would serve notice that they would kill the treaty unless Shantung were satisfactorily settled.

The Chinese themselves said they were "exploring new avenues" since the Japanese appeared indisposed to a continuance of the good office of the United States and Britain. The need of the alleged Chinese move emanated from British sources.

A further fate of the naval treaty in the secret committee meeting, it became known today, that objections will be raised—probably by France—to a new clause committing the five powers to build battleships for foreign account.

This clause allows a power to construct for an outsider ships not larger than those permitted to the five powers, but with the stipulation that all details be furnished the other signatories.

The French objection is understood to be based on the possibilities that a nation would seek to evade the treaty by building for other powers with the chance that the craft would be bought back.

It was learned today that the agreement between the United States, Great Britain and Japan that island fortifications in the pact be left at status quo has not yet been set down in the draft of the naval treaty.

This has caused some surprise outside of the conferees as definite agreement on this subject was announced by Secretary Hughes along with the agreement between the three powers on the capital ship ratio.

Make Treaty Air Tight Document For Peace

Washington, Jan. 10.—Special provisions to guard against "loop holes" in the new naval limitations treaty that might lead to war, have been inserted in the pact by the arms conference. Every effort has been made to make the treaty an "air tight" document for the preservation of the peace of the world.

These anti-loop holes provisions heretofore unrevealed, were made available to the United Press today as follows:

1. The contracting powers pledge themselves not to use for war purposes any war vessel they are building for other nations. Under this clause a nation could not seize vessels on the ways in its own country in case of war.

2. The contracting powers pledge themselves not to sell old vessels to other nations which might become war vessels for these other powers. This is designed to prevent vessels intended for the scrap heap from being sold outside. New vessels can be built for outside nations.

3. Another pledge heretofore secret permits the contracting nations to retain two vessels each from the scrap list—to be converted into aircraft carriers even if they exceed the 27,000 ton limit.

Submit Treaties to Senate at Close

Washington, Jan. 10.—All treaties and agreements represented at the armament conference will be submitted to the senate immediately after conclusion of the conference, it was stated at the White House today. It was not indicated whether the president will present them to the senate in person or by messenger.

AIRPLANES WILL WAGE NEXT WAR

IN THE OPINION OF CAPT. EDDIE RICKENBACHER, AMERICAN ACE OF ACES

(By United Press)

New York, Jan. 10.—Airplanes—which are not being restricted by the arms conference—will wage the next war, Captain Eddie Rickenbacher, the American ace of aces, today declared.

"The dreadnaughts of the sky will hurl death by bombs on defenseless men, women and children. Nevertheless, I believe the Washington arms conference is right in not restricting airplanes," Rickenbacher said in an interview with the United Press.

"Besides being the devil of war, the airplane is the angel of peace," in the opinion of the sky fighter who brought down more Germans than any other American flyer.

"Undoubtedly, the next war will be a war in the air—if there is another war, it will be a mechanic, chemical war. Airplanes, armed with deadly gas bombs, will steal over cities and the innocent will suffer suffocation hurled from the air.

"Yet, restriction of aeronautics would mean restriction of civilization. Civilization rotates on transportation. Mankind is cluttering this. Increased rapidity of transportation is made to keep mankind alive. The airplane gives this necessary speed, it is not limited to one level—it travels on thousands of levels.

"Nations and continents will be united as never before by airplanes. In twenty years Japan will be only 24 hours distant from the United States.

"Restricting weapons does not restrict warfare," said Rickenbacher, giving his opinion of the Washington arms conference. "Confidence in man by man is the maker of peace. Build up a confidence, a real understanding between nations, and there will be no more war."

PURCHASE OF LIQUOR SUPPLIES WILL BE URGED ON PRESIDENT

BY JOINT GOVERNMENTAL COMMITTEE ON REORGANIZATION SOON

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 10.—Purchase by the government of liquor supplies in the country will be recommended to President Harding soon by the joint congressional committee on governmental reorganization.

The plan would have Uncle Sam buy all the liquor now in bonded warehouses. It totals about twenty-five million gallons, and could be bought, it is estimated, for fifty million dollars.

The treasury would quickly get back this money and more, the committee thinks, by the sale of five million gallons for medicinal purposes at $12.00 a gallon. This is less than tax paid whiskey now costs the wholesaler.

The committee holds its proposal would save millions of dollars now paid out to guard warehouses and keep records.

Prohibition enforcement officials and Wayne B. Wheeler of the anti-saloon league favor the proposal.

The government must now guard 140 bonded warehouses in which whiskey is stored.

1921 SETS MARK FOR MEAN TEMPERATURES

Minneapolis, Jan. 10.—The mean temperature for every day and hour of 1921 was 47.9, two-tenths of a degree higher than any other year in the history of the Minneapolis weather bureau, and was 3.3 degrees higher than the average for 30 years, records compiled today by U. G. Purcell, meteorologist, showed. The high temperature record for the year came as a result of the hot weather in June, when the mean temperature record for a month was broken and the mark was 6.6 degrees higher than normal. In June there were 11 days on which the temperature was 90 degrees or higher. What was gained in temperature was lost in rainfall, the record show. COMMUNICATION

To the Editor of the Dispatch:
We hear a lot of talk about good roads and that's a good thing to think about. Also a good thing to do some acting with all our thinking. But do we all act?

It's to bad that a few men on some main roads through pure negligence are the cause of our country roads being blocked every winter after a two inch snowfall and a two hour blow, but such is the fact. If any one thinks different, let them go out through the town of Long Lake South. They will see right now at the present time the difference in roads between a farmer that keeps his road side clean and the one that doesn't cut the hay and weeds along his hedgerow. The question is, how are we going to handle this case?

Hasn't the town board a right to cut these places and charge same to owner? Some one please answer. Yours for pep.

An Unending Care

He was the proud father of two youngsters, but he was curious to find out when they would cease to be a trial and tribulation to him, so he resolved to ask an old friend, who had many children, if there was an age at which children were not a care. He did so and the answer he received was:

"I don't know. My eldest is only twenty."

NO CHINAFYING OF RED RUSSIA, SAYS THE SOVIET

London, Jan. 10.—Plans for an Anglo-American-Franco-German agreement to penetrate Russia, rebuild her industries, restore her crippled transport system and rehabilitate her generally, will fail unless they are radically revised.

The Russian view is that the "penetrating" countries have planned an attractive wedding, provided a dashing bridegroom, but have failed even to seek the necessary consent of the bride.

Russia, the United Press learns authoritatively, will not negotiate with a European consortium. If there is any negotiation by Russia, it will be with America in Washington, Great Britain in London, Germany in Berlin and France in Paris.

There may be first a general meeting. It will have nothing directly to do with penetrating Russia, however, but will deal with recognition of the Soviet government.

The position of the Russians is that any sort of capital will be welcomed. Capital is essential to the former empire, and Russia cannot be put upon her feet without it.

"But," a Soviet trade journal said today, "there will be no Chinafying of Russia. Certainly we want capital. And we can make propositions to capitalists that will assure our getting it. But we will get it as a world power should, from individual countries.

"We do not want and are not going to have a combination of world powers exploiting Russia. The Soviet government has shown its stability. It has suffered the test of war and famine, and is stronger today than it ever was. It will win through.

"It is not going to be emasculated by granting powers of exploitation to a combination of European financiers. There should be a general meeting of European nations to discuss Russia with Russians. But the meeting would be political, and any discussion of economics would be merely general.

"Russia must be recognized for what it is; a world power—crippled, the capitalists say, by the Soviet; we say by the Czarist government which left us to rebuild the ruins when the economic structure of the nation collapsed through the rottenness of its own foundations—nevertheless a world power whose vital importance cannot be permanently ignored if there is to be world disarmament, a Pacific agreement, a moratorium of debts, reparation and others, or reconstruction of Europe.

"We need Europe and Europe needs us. Great as is our need, pathetic as are the cries of our hungry people, we know we should be fools—traitors to our people and our country—to turn Russian resources and industries over to a trust of European capital. If there is to be capitalistic penetration it will be by agreement of Russia with financiers of individual nations. Some financiers know it. The others will be convinced."

JAPANESE TRADE ASKS SUBSIDIES

Tokyo (By Mail).—Japanese exporters and importers are trying to get government aid to support their languishing foreign trade.

The unfavorable trade balance against this country is increasing steadily. Japanese exports are dropping, because high labor costs in Japan, as well as costs of material, are still rocking on the inflated war-boom valuations. Other countries have dropped to a lower scale, and so Japan is now at a high-price disadvantage, rather than her former low-price advantage in foreign commerce.

the inevitable and avert the acceptance of loss that came to business men in other countries when the war and post-war booms passed away. The latest plan, backed by all the Chambers of Commerce of Japan, is to get the government to tide over the period of business uncertainty by some sort of subsidy or support to those engaged in foreign trade.

The idea is to create a sort of cross between the plans of the War Finance Corporation and the Edges Law banks in America. Bills have been drafted by the Tokyo Chamber of Commerce, approved by all the Chambers of Commerce of the other Japanese cities, and these will be introduced at the coming session of the Diet.

The plan contemplates the formation of an "International Trade and Finance Corporation," supported by a government subsidy. It will have a capitalization of $100,000,000, and have authority to issue debentures amounting to ten times its capital stock. There will be offices in London and New York and other world-market centers.

The Corporation will try to do for Japan's foreign trade what the revived War Finance Corporation in America attempted for cotton and other exports.

PETER W COLLINS TO SPEAK IN CITY

Boston Man to Appear Sunday Afternoon, January 29, Under Knights of Columbus Auspices

"WHAT'S WRONG WITH WORLD?"

To be Title of His Discourse—Lecture Entirely Free to the Public, Questions Answered

Peter W. Collins of Boston, the man who has answered a million questions, will arrive in Brainerd on Sunday, January 29, to deliver that afternoon under the auspices of Brainerd Council, Knights of Columbus, his lecture "What's Wrong With the World?"

As an anti-radicalism lecturer, campaigning under the direction of the K. of C. Supreme Board of Directors for the past decade, Collins has established the world's record for answering questions in the open forums always held at the conclusion of his lectures. Grand Knight Joseph Mraz announces that the lecture will be entirely free to the public and that any of Mr. Collins' hearers is entitled to ask whatever question he or she deems pertinent to the subject of the lecture.

Mr. Collins is one of a corps of experts in the sociological and economic field carrying an educational campaign against organized radicalism under the auspices of the K. of C. He is one of the best equipped authorities on industrial relations in America, having served for years as a trade union official. In 1917, the U. S. government enlisted Collins as one of its industrial experts and in 1918 he undertook the direction of the K. of C. reconstruction and employment system which found jobs in civilian life for more than 300,000 former service men without a cent of cost to either employer or employee.

In his lecture Mr. Collins will deal with the potentialities for social disorders in the world, and especially in America today, and define the forces that can successfully counteract the organized effort to disrupt the present social status. His experience as a labor leader has equipped him with an intimate knowledge of the labor side of industrial disputes and his professional contact with employers enables him to understand thoroughly their viewpoint.

Wherever Mr. Collins has lectured during his years of service with the K. of C., press and public of all politics and creeds have agreed that his message of common sense in capital and labor disputes and unwavering opposition to bolshevik doctrines has contributed largely to a clear understanding of the multiple industrial and economic problems that confront the world today.

A Good Right

He appeared wearing a croix de guerre. An army officer, who knew that he had claimed exemption from military service, challenged his right to wear it.

"I've got the best right in the world to it," was the defense, "I whipped the fellow who won it in France."

SAID HE SAW DEVIL

Henry Arlt Writes Dispatch of Visit of Devil at Hutchinson and Commotion Produced

The Dispatch has received the following letter postmarked Brainerd, January 9, regarding the appearance of a devil in Minnesota:

Editor Brainerd Dispatch:
Some time ago I saw a little ad in the paper about that Hutchinson affair, about the devil appearing at night amongst the joy makers. Well, that is true. To make the story short, I will begin.

Hutchinson is in McLeod county, three miles west from Glencoe, about 60 miles from Minneapolis. It appears Lake Merrian is a lake about like North Long Lake with only one summer resort, boats, dancing pavillion and a hotel.

The man that used to run it, his name is Fred Karstens, a well respected family with no enemies of no kind, man that ran that summer hotel or resort for many years as I know I am well acquainted with him and last year, July 4, I went home to Glencoe to visit home folks and friends and it seems the only 4th of July celebration was at that lake, so of course me and some boy friends we went or drove out in an auto and in the evening took in the dance and about midnight the devil appeared.

Now we do not know whether he came through the floor or roof. The first we seen he was standing in the center of the floor and the Hutchinson orchestra with six men playing on instruments, the instruments all went to pieces and scattered in all directions.

Ladies fainted and had to be carried out. Some are sick yet. Well, there were about 200 merry makers or in plain, 200 boys and girls most of them went home without their cars till daylight.

Now Mr. Karstens had to move out. The buildings are all vacant, furniture store and everything in the building or hotel, no living person or family can live in that hotel or even stay on those grounds. It is impossible. I can prove this is a fact.

Men as Sam Anderson, county attorney for McLeod county, Judge Tift of the district court, Sheriff Clous all of McLeod county, men from all parts of the United States investigated. What did they find? Only the real devil appearing at sudden time at night.

Respectfully,

HENRY ARLT

A "WORKERS' REPUBLIC"

The "Workers' Party of America," a red organization, is agitating "a new revolution" in this country. From all information obtainable, the organization is composed principally of "workers" of the Lenin and Trotsky type, whose real work apparently is to work their fellow workers.

The object of the movement, as officially announced by the organization, is "to organize the working class for the abolition of capitalism and the establishment of the workers' republic. Anybody can join who will accept the principles and dictates of the Workers' Party of America and agree to abide by the discipline established."

It is explained that it was at first proposed that the test of eligibility should be of "sound moral character" of the applicant, but this was discarded on the theory that any one who accepts the principles of the organization must be of "sound moral character." The organization has a rallying song, the refrain of which is "We'll keep the red flag flying here."

Thus the workingman, who with high rent and excessive living costs, certainly would seem to have troubles enough of his own, is to be exploited where possible in a revolutionary movement which promises the same sort of relief that the Russian workingmen have had from the soviet government.

But there need be no unnecessary alarm over such a "revolution." The intelligent workingmen of America are not going to be so easily gulled as the poor deluded workers have been by the Bolsheviks in famine-stricken Russia.

SACCO AND VANZETTI

Since Sacco and Vanzetti have been denied a new trial by the judge who presided at their first trial, there are renewed ravings among the radicals in America and abroad, who see in the incident additional evidence of autocracy in the government of the United States. But American processes of law will not be diverted. The case will probably be appealed to some other judge. The culprits will be given the advantage of every right they possess in our courts, and the final decision will be carried out, regardless of the violent demonstrations of their friends.

Sacco and Vanzetti are Italian anarchists, which accounts for the heavily financed campaign against their punishment for murder. This agitation is by people who know nothing of the evidence which proved them guilty of killing the protectors of a payroll which they were trying to steal, they merely assume that because Sacco and Vanzetti are Italian anarchists they ought not to be held amenable to the laws governing ordinary Americans. The murderers had a fair trial and were convicted by the jury which heard the evidence. If an appeal is taken to a higher court and sufficient grounds are shown for a new trial they will doubtless get it; if again denied, they must suffer the penalty of their crime.

DRASTIC DRY ORDER

S. B. Qvale, state prohibition director, has just clamped a new lid on soft drink establishments. By a ruling made last Friday, proprietors of soft drink bars, in whose possession medicinal preparations are found containing more than one-half of 1 per cent alcohol, hereafter will face immediate prosecution for violation of the Volstead act. Orders were issued to prohibition agents authorizing them to obtain search warrants for places where they have reason to believe such preparations are on sale with the intent to violate prohibition laws.

In this connection we notice that the House of Representatives, in its first annual supply measure drafted under the budget system and passed on Friday, has appropriated $9,250,000 for enforcement of prohibition during the fiscal year beginning next July 1. The measure was sent to the Senate without a record vote, practically no opposition developing against this or other appropriations named in the bill.

The Republican State Central Committee issued a call for State and Congressional conventions, to be held March 31 and March 30 respectively. The Sixth district Congressional convention will be held in St. Cloud. The county conventions will be held March 18, at 1 p. m., at the call of the county committees.

Billy Noonan, of the Baudette Region, says: "It cost Benidji $1240 to hire cellar smelters to get evidence against prohibition law violators. It would be an interesting problem in arithmetic to figure how much it would cost to clean up International Falls."

The Department of Labor reports that unemployment increased in the United States during the month of December 4.7 per cent. This was in spite of increased activity and larger payrolls reported from a number of the leading industries.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover has issued a call to Federated club women asking that Jan. 28, 29 and 30 be observed as National Child Labor days, for consideration of child labor as a national problem.

AMUSEMENTS

"Sky Pilot" on Screen Runs True to Book

Probably because of the fact that he thoroughly knows the subject whereof he writes, Ralph Connor's story, "The Sky Pilot," which King Vidor has directed as a motion picture, is one of the real gems among current motion picture releases.

Ralph Connor, whose real name is Rev. Charles W. Gordon, and whose steady occupation is not writing books at all, but preaching the gospel in his little Canadian church, is to be congratulated upon the sincere manner in which the Cathrine Curtis Productions have translated his story to the screen. Few authors can claim as interesting a film version of their works as the Rev. Gordon.

The story deals with a young minister who is sent into the Canadian ranch belt to spread the gospel among the cowboys. His trials and tribulations, his fights, his faith, his hope are masterfully interpreted by King Vidor through John Bowers, who plays the title role. How the pilot, unpopular at first, wins a place for himself in the hearts of the cowboys, who surprise him on Christmas morning by leading him blind-folded down a snow-covered trail to show him the little frame church they have built without his knowledge, forms the human note of the story which is featured by several smashing dramatic scenes.

Big Western Special at Lyceum Tonight

All day long on the dusty road that seemed never to end, from early morning until the dead, flat heat of later afternoon, found both Bud McGaw and the horse he rode in the border town of Jericho, dog-tired, hot and wanting to be let alone. But Jericho let no one alone. A man on a porch opposite where Bud's horse lay down by the hitching post, laughed loud and long at the sight—long enough certainly to make Bud fightin' mad. "You can laugh at me," he said, "but you can't laugh at my horse." Whereupon the mirth broke forth again, and the answer came. "I'm laughing at both of you." Bud helped the man's friends apply the restoratives, the court-plaster and the poultice for the two mouse-colored eyes.

This sample of Jericho was enough for Bud. It looked like a good town, where there was action, thrills. And that was what he had gone in quest of. This first fight was only that—his first. He had others, as hard and harder—and if you like men like Bud—scrapping, clear-eyed, straight-talking men—you'll like Bud's story,

"Fightin' Mad" with Wm. Desmond, showing at the Lyceum last time tonight.

Double Feature Program at Lyceum Wednesday and Thursday

Edna Murphy has been married again—on the screen. The charming young Fox star declares she is far too busy getting married in the pictures to consider matrimony as a personal matter, so she may be expected to keep on marrying Johnnie Walker, her co-star in Fox feature productions, as she does in "What Love Will Do," a drama of love and exciting adventure which comes to the Lyceum theatre on Wednesday and Thursday.

IZZY THE RUM HOUND TELLS HOW IT'S DONE

Champion Hootch Hunter Says Keen Scent Protects New York Agents From Poisonous Liquor

VILE STUFF IS ON SALE HERE

But Einstein Takes a "Whiff" Then Pours Evidence Into Container, to Save His Stomach

(New York Times)

Unlike their fellow-officers in San Francisco, New York dry agents are apparently immune from the evil effects of poisonous liquors dispensed in many of the cheap saloons and "blind tigers" so far as being made physically ill is concerned. Not a single New York agent has been reported knocked out by bad liquors since the Eighteenth Amendment went into effect, although several Boston agents, who did some work here early in the year, were soon incapacitated by the drinks they took for "evidence."

Izzy Einstein, heralded as the champion "rum hound" in the Government service, was asked yesterday to explain why New York agents never succumb to bad liquor when others are being made ill, blinded or killed by poisonous concoctions.

"That is easy," said Einstein. "New York agents know good liquor when they smell it. They have a highly developed sense of smell as regards the aroma of anything intoxicating, and can detect the slightest foreign element. Of course, these bootleggers are getting cleverer every day, and occasionally we run across a concoction that is almost odorless. Then we barely moisten our tongues to determine whether or not it has a kick. Such a test is easy to the trained hootch hunter."

"New York prohibition agents who really enjoy a little nip now and then, have sense enough, and I mean this two ways, to leave the bad stuff for the other fellow to drink. The agents get the choice article."

Izzy Saves His Stomach

"Personally, a whiff of the stuff is all I want at any time. Then the contents of the glass that is poured out by the bartender goes into a bottle via a little funnel in my upper left vest pocket. This invention of my own receives the 'evidence' and saves my stomach. Immediately after the liquor is deposited I remove the funnel and cock the bottle, then slip an empty bottle into its place. Then I am ready for another 'drink' at the next saloon."

"I tell you what is a fact. In my rounds on Friday of saloons on the east side and in the Bronx I found the vilest concoctions masquerading as liquors I have ever seen. I do believe that a good-sized drink of this stuff would knock out the average man, even a prohibition agent. Some of it was odorless, but a drop on the tongue was enough to satisfy me that it was deadly poison. The drinks being sold in the saloons are getting worse all the time."

A general prohibition agent on the staff of E. C. Yellowley, who is soon to leave for San Francisco to help "clean up" that city again, was warned yesterday of the character of liquor he would have to drink, as indicated by press dispatches. He was also informed that in San Francisco the symptoms of the poisoning of the agents are "a general lassitude, loss of appetite and a desire to rest."

"Say, Mr. Blisky," which is a name this general agent has recently adopted for all his friends, "if those are the symptoms I am certain that the deadly poison is being consumed in large doses by the regular force of New York agents. At least two of the symptoms are prominently displayed by a majority of the local agents. General lassitude. That is a condition I have observed from the first day I landed here, several months ago. The dictionary definition of 'general lassitude,' is, I believe, 'A state of body or mind in which there is a strong disinclination to exertion.' What could better express the attitude apparently assumed by the New York agents? Yes, I am convinced that they consume a lot of this kind of liquor."

No Loss of Appetite Here

"Then we come on down to loss of appetite. Well, I am not prepared to say that this is a prominent symptom displayed by New York agents. In fact, I believe the reverse is true. They are all apparently well fed. It is remarkable that soon after they come on the staff these agents take on flesh. Yes, they must be eating a plenty. In fact, I have occasionally stumbled upon these agents in places under investigation and have observed them putting away tremendous steaks and trimmings."

"Then you say that another symptom is desire to rest. It is apparent from the number of places running wide open in this city that there is really something more than a desire to rest—many of the agents are actually resting. You can't tell me that 155 agents in New York City can't do more effective work than is being done if they were not affected by one or both of the symptoms described in the San Francisco dispatch."

"Perhaps that is why Chief Yellowley has decided to return to San Francisco for a spell—the symptoms shown by agents there. Then when he gets things tuned up out there again, back to New York he is likely to come with an enlarged staff to knock the symptoms out of the agents here."

And straightway this general agent went out and made "a number of buys," he said, just to show how easy it is. He said the evidence would be used later against law violators.

JAPANESE SCANDALS RIGHT UP TO DATE

By CLARENCE DUBOSE,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Tokyo (By Mail).—Nippon has been annoyed a lot of late because some of her narikins and nobles have been naughty.

The narikins are the boys who got rich quick during the war. When it comes to spending and staging little parties with plenty of snap, some of 'em can make Broadway's best look like cheap skates. Then there are the gay young bloods with noble names and a marvelous eye for geisha. The two groups have been treating Tokyo to some rich and racy scandal. This the vernacular press faithfully plas- ters all over the front page, followed by long editorials bemoaning such scandalous tendencies and beseeching the whoop-em-up bunch to return to the straight and narrow.

Also the yellow papers here have had rich pickings of late in a flock of divorce suits and constitute a sort of kimona and cherry-blossom version of the Stillman and similar affairs of the States.

This sort of thing is new in Japan. The papers have half their editorial writers busy pointing out that the great mass of the people haven't gone to the bow-wows. The papers are tremendously serious about it—editorially. But on the front page (which is their back page) the zipper the detail the greater their glee. The sky's the limit.

Consider the case of Aki-ko, "The White Lotus," dubbed by the Japanese newspapers the "Queen of Chigusa." Aki-ko, one of the most popular Japanese poets and wife of an old and exceedingly wealthy noble, sued her husband for divorce not long ago, meanwhile trekking away to a fashionable resort with an impecunious young student who adored her poetry. One of the big newspapers put over a beat by getting the first interview with the White Lotus. Its principal rival retaliated with a few choice words from Friend Husband. They proceeded, in effect to try the case in the newspapers. The one which first interviewed Aki-ko espoused her cause; the other, that of the husband. Each dug up new evidence every day. The people took up the argument. In one college the students held debates on the question: "Resolved, that the White Lotus is entirely justified in leaving her Honorable Lord." In another girl's college a class struck because, they said, their professor was an old-fogey, and forbade them debating the momentous question.

Meanwhile Deserted Husband filed a libel suit for ten million yen against the newspaper supporting Aki-ko, and Aki-ko wrote a new book of poetry which sold like hot cakes.

The only bet that was overlooked was breaking into the movies, and, of course, that may come any day.

Fairy Tales

"About the time a girl loses her faith in fairy tales," said the cynic, "she begins to believe in love."

"Yes, replied the optimist, "and although her lover whispers sweet nothings in her ear, she has great hopes that eventually they will mean a great deal."

A Learned Man

"His mother tells me that young Follinsbee can speak seven languages fluently," said Mrs. Newlywed.

"Does that include the one he uses at golf?" asked her husband.

A Good Reason

Nell: "That man certainly gets on people's nerves."

Belle: "Too bad; and he's such a nice looking chap. Why does he?"

Nell: "Because he's a dentist."

Mufflers?

"The modern girl muffles and hides her ears in her hair," says Uncle Jed, "but from my observation she still contrives to hear when a man proposes to her."

EPISCOPAL CHURCH IS TO BE BUILT SOON

Annual Parish Meeting Was Held on Monday Evening at St. Paul's Episcopal Church

T. ALBANS TO BE ARCHITECT
Structure Contemplated to Cost $26,000, Including a Separate Guild Hall

The annual parish meeting of St. Paul's Episcopal church was held on Monday evening. The meeting was of more than usual interest to the members, as the plans for the new church building were submitted, and about every one present participated in the general discussion which followed.

The regular order of business was taken up first, and the annual reports all showed a healthy financial condition.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Senior Warden, W. D. McKay; Junior Warden, W. H. Gemmell; Vestry, F. A. Farrar, A. J. Halsted, R. R. Wise, J. H. Davison, R. R. Gould, R. T. Campbell, J. R. Smith; Mrs. F. A. Farrar, president of the married Ladies Guild; Miss Mary Scott, president of St. Mary's Guild and Mrs. F. S. Parker, member at large.

Delegates chosen to the Diocesan Council at Duluth are R. R. Wise and W. H. Gemmell; alternates, Mrs. F. A. Farrar and Mrs. F. S. Parker.

A committee consisting of A. J. Halsted, R. R. Gould and Miss Sarah Irwin was elected to prepare a constitution and by-laws for the parish and the Vestry.

The committee on plans for a new church building, consisting of R. T. Campbell and J. H. Davison, recommended that W. T. Albans, a well known St. Paul architect, be engaged to prepare plans for the building and this recommendation was adopted by a vote of the parish.

Tentative plans submitted by Mr. Albans were carefully examined, and some unimportant changes suggested. These plans call for a handsome modern structure, which the architect estimates can be built for something like $26,000, this price to include a separate Guild hall. There will be considerable salvage from the lumber in the old building which is not considered in these figures.

The plans, after considerable discussion, were turned over to the Ladies' Guild, and will be considered further by them at their meeting on Thursday afternoon, with a view to receiving suggestions from the ladies, especially as to the arrangements for the kitchen, serving room, social room, etc., in the basement, which is to be modern with all the new and up-to-date accessories. The basement will also be furnished with movable partitions to provide for rooms for the various Sunday school classes.

F. A. Farrar was elected treasurer of the building fund, and the meeting then adjourned.

MARITAL WOES ARE UNTANGLED IN COURT

Caroline May Beggs Sues Clarence Beggs for Divorce, Is Awarded Plea for Alimony

MEMORANDUM OF THE CASE
Judge W. S. McClenahan of District Court Takes Cognizance of Situation in Pleadings

Caroline May Beggs, through her attorneys Swanson & Swanson, has sued Clarence Beggs for divorce. She is 43 and he is 51 years old. They were married at Monticello, Iowa, on May 1, 1893 and have eight children ranging in ages from 8 to 26. In the complaint filed she charges desertion of the husband on October 9, 1920.

The defendant in his answer alleged he left home because she would not permit him to remain at home and engage in any occupation, that he was always willing to support her and the children. He states he has no property or money and is engaged in farming and is supporting two of the sons, Gerald F. and Kenneth C. Beggs. He states further that he is partially disabled by injury to his left arm, is able to support the family if they reside on the farm, but not if they live apart from him. That he has a suitable home on a farm in Minden township, Benton county, Minnesota.

The plaintiff denies that he supported the two children mentioned, and states they are supporting themselves on the farm named.

She asks for an allowance of $100 for attorneys' fees, alimony of $15 a month for herself and of $25 a month for the care of the children.

The defendant was ordered to pay the plaintiff for the support of two minor children living with her $15 per month, the first payment to be made in January.

Judge W. S. McClenahan in his memorandum stated:

"I think this is a case where the allowances asked for should be passed upon after a full hearing of the merits. The plaintiff herself practically admits in her reply that the defendant, who is supporting some of the children, is making a bare living. Her suggestion that he could do better if he desired, without pointing out in what way he might better himself, is a mere conclusion unsupported by any apparent facts and rendered doubtful, to say the least, by what is obvious to every one who has given thought to existing conditions relating to the question of employment. It is not at all clear that the plaintiff is without fault, particularly in her refusal to accept the defendants offer to make a home for her and the children."

"The charge is desertion, not ill treatment. The defendant's showing indicates a willingness to provide a home and support for his family, an attitude not altogether consistent with the charge that there has been a wilful desertion."

"It is a mistaken notion that, in every case where the wife applies for allowances of the character here involved, the court will grant them as a matter of course. There must be a showing of good faith and reasonable necessity, as well as ability to pay. This does not appeal to me now as such a case."

Attention Rebekahs

There will be a special meeting of the Florence Rebekah Lodge Wednesday evening, at 7:30 sharp for the purpose of reading the summer annual report followed by joint installation.

MEDALS AWARDED

November Medal Winners in Winchester Junior Rifle Corps Competition

Five hundred and forty-nine medals were awarded in the Winchester Junior Rifle Corps matches in November, of which number 317 were pro-marksman, 202 marksman, 106 sharpshooters, 114 possible bars, five experts and five instructors. This makes 12,847 medals that have been given for good shooting with the 22 calibre rifle in the W. J. R. C. competitions this season—more than one thousand a month. This gives an idea of the interest the youth of America take in small bore rifle shooting. One of these days every city, town and hamlet will have a municipal small bore range where every one can learn to shoot the small rifle and it will be a fine thing for every place when this happens. There are now more than 2,000 rifle ranges in the United States and Canada, and by the end of next year this should be doubled. The Winchester Junior Rifle Corps now has a membership of 97,000.

The medal winners in this state were 9 from Owatonna, 3 from St. Paul, 2 from Minneapolis.

"Grand Counsellor Clayton W. Final will be our guest and it is up to every member to make not only a special effort to be there but set aside every other reason except sudden death and come."

A pure bred Holstein cow valued at $500 belonging to W. A. Blakey of the Cuyuna Dairy Farm died Monday. Dr. R. A. Hallquist was called and diagnosed the trouble as was revealed on post mortem examination.

A wire about four inches long was found in the tract leading to the heart causing a traumatic heart disease. A nail, a penny and a burr was also found in the stomach. ## NEWBERRY'S SPEECH IN SENATE IN DE- FENSE OF ELECTION

"I can't remain silent any longer during the consideration of my right to represent the state of Michigan as one of its senators," said Senator Newberry in defense of his election. "I did not volunteer to appear before the committee of the senate which took testimony in this matter, because I really had no information that would assist in the investigation of the charges filed by my opponent. It seems to me that the time has come to speak, because my silence might be misunderstood by my friends."

War Kept Him From Michigan

"On the sixth day of June, 1917, I was commissioned a lieutenant-commander of the United States navy and on July 23, 1917, I was assigned to the third naval district, with headquarters in the Brooklyn navy yard. I immediately took up my duties there and from day, July 23, 1917, until after the signing of the armistice Nov. 11, 1918, I was never in Michigan a single hour. The primary election and the general election of 1918 occurred during my absence from the state of Michigan."

"In the early fall of 1917 I began to receive visits and letters from men active in public and political affairs in Michigan urging me to become a candidate on the republican ticket for United States senator. I was not unmindful of the suggested honor and yet I fully realized that I certainly would not resign my commission in the navy to become a candidate for any political office, and that I could not take any personal active interest in a campaign while I continued to be an officer on duty in the United States navy."

Campaign Manager Old Political Foe.

"Paul H. King was induced to accept the active management of the campaign. The selection of Mr. King did not originate with me. It was not in any way arranged by me. I knew Mr. King but slightly. My last contact with him had been in 1912, when we were political opponents."

"He insisted that before he would even accept, much less undertake to enter upon the work of the campaign, he should and must learn for himself, because of our differences in 1912, whether or not his management of the senatorial campaign would be entirely acceptable to me."

"He came to New York and we had a brief interview there. We did not discuss, even indirectly, a single detail of the campaign. I recall that during the conversation had at that time, Mr. King in answer to a question as to how much it had cost the friends of Senator Townsend, whose campaign Mr. King had managed, said it had cost approximately $20,000, and added that in view of the situation then existing in Michigan, he thought it would cost my friends approximately $50,000 to make a comprehensive and successful campaign. This is the only amount of money which directly or indirectly, I ever heard mentioned in connection with the senatorial campaign in Michigan until after the primary election and the report of the committee was filed."

Didn't Solicit Single Dollar

"I did not solicit or expend, directly or indirectly, one single dollar in the campaign for senator in Michigan in 1918, nor did I know of the contributions made until afterwards. The two statements which I made under oath to the senate are absolutely and wholly true."

"After our interview in New York, Mr. King went back to Michigan, and prosecuted a campaign, conducting it entirely in his own way. Not more than a half dozen times did I see Mr. King throughout the campaign and each time it was in the city of New York. He kept me constantly informed as to the progress of the campaign in which I was, of course, keenly interested."

"On one or two occasions, questions of policy were discussed between us and in each instance, the judgment of Mr. King controlled."

"Astonished at Large Sums Spent"

"I knew, as a matter of fact, that a campaign of publicity was being extensively carried on, and I realized that such a campaign must necessarily cost a considerable sum of money, but I did not have the faintest idea as to the amount of money that actually was expended until after the report was made public. The cost of the campaign was about $195,000, according to the report, and when I learned of this amount I was at once filled with astonishment and regret."

"The amount expended was large, more than I had any idea was being expended, and more than ought to be necessary to expend in any ordinary campaign. But this was not an ordinary campaign."

"As to the campaign fund, the question of its acquisition, or of its expenditure, was never called to my attention by anyone connected with me or the campaign committee, and when I stated that no money was spent with my knowledge or consent, I endeavored to convey the same impression which I now endeavor to make clear, namely, that as for myself, I was spending no money, and that I knew nothing about the expenditure of money in the campaign."

Denies Repaying Campaign Funds

"I want to make this point just as strong as I am able to do because it has been hinted that money which was contributed, without my knowledge or consent, by relatives and friends of mine, was subsequently, in some way, directly or indirectly, repaid by me, or was to be repaid by me. There is not even a shadow of truth or the slightest foundation for any such statement. I did not know by whom these amounts were given. I did not know either their source, their amount or their use. I have never agreed, either directly or indirectly, to repay, or in any way to reimburse such contributions. I have never made any agreement to do so nor have I any intention of doing so."

Declares Election Honorable

"So far as I am personally concerned, I did not spend in the primary campaign in Michigan, a single dollar, directly or indirectly, and with the exception of a personal contribution of $1,500 to the republican state central committee, this is equally true of the general election. In spite of the fact that the whole people of my state were bombarded from every side by every means of publicity and appeal, with every detail of every charge made against me in connection with the primary, I was elected fairly and honorably a senator from the state of Michigan."

Borah Assails Newberry

Washington, Jan. 10.—The taint of corruption adhere to Truman H. Newberry as a result of the excessive use of money in his campaign for the senate, even though he may have had no part in the corruption, Senator Borah, of Idaho, declared today in a speech to the senate, assailing Newberry's right to the seat.

DRINK MORE WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

EAT LESS MEAT AND TAKE SALTS FOR BACKACHE OR BLADDER TROUBLE

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from your pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it's only trouble.
